

MCCCI – Maple Crunch Centre for Canadian Culinary Innovation
Federally Incorporated Not-for-Profit | Corporation No. 1753096-0 Mission-Driven Public-Good
Organization Serving Northern Ontario

Mission

To strengthen and modernize Northern Ontario through technology, innovation, and community-driven public-good services that support farmers, Indigenous communities, and underserved regions.

Who We Are

MCCCI is a federally incorporated not-for-profit organization dedicated to advancing sustainable food systems, Indigenous partnership, and community modernization. We provide free consulting and modernization support to farmers, Indigenous communities, municipalities, and social-impact organizations — helping them adopt technology, improve operations, and build long-term resilience.

Core Service Areas

- Food Systems & Agriculture Transformation
- Indigenous Partnership & Community Resilience
- Technology Adoption & Process Innovation
- Municipal Infrastructure & Rural Development
- Social Impact & Community Well-Being
- Education, Skills & Youth Innovation
- Flagship Initiatives
- Northern Food Systems Lab – Agriculture modernization and innovation
- Indigenous Culinary Futures Program – Co-designed food sovereignty support
- Smart Farm Accelerator – Technology adoption for struggling farmers
- Community Resilience Advisory – Municipal modernization and service redesign
- Youth Food Innovation Pathways – Skills development and entrepreneurship

How We Measure Success

- Reviving indebted farms and restoring fertile lands
- Increasing food access in remote and Indigenous communities
- Reducing food waste through waste-to-value innovation
- Supporting technology adoption and operational efficiency
- Strengthening climate resilience and supply chain stability
- Empowering youth and building local workforce capacity

Government & Community Partnerships

MCCCI collaborates with government agencies, Indigenous governments, municipalities, and community organizations to support shared priorities in food security, climate resilience, digital modernization, and rural economic development.

Who Can Request Support

- Farmers and food producers
 - Indigenous governments and community organizations
 - Rural municipalities and infrastructure planners
 - Schools, colleges, and youth programs
 - Social-impact organizations serving vulnerable populations
- All services are provided free of charge to eligible communities.

Contact

MCCCI – Maple Crunch Centre for Canadian Culinary Innovation Mississauga, Ontario Email:
info@mccci.ca Website: www.mccci.ca